Hope you enjoy! Sorry its so late!

El walked into the living room in a baby pink sundress. Max looked down at her jeans and plain shirt, frowning. "Hey El?"

"Hm?" Her wife hummed as she checked her make-up in the mirror. Max fiddled with her fingers. It's been going across her mind all day, how come she couldn't say it?

"What time a-are we supposed to be there?"

"Two thirty honey! It's one right now, though."

"Oh okay."

"Is the room all done?"

"Yeah, Mike and I finished it yesterday."

"Perfect! I'm sorry I couldn't help lovie."

"Don't worry, its okay." It really wasn't but Max wasn't but Max wasn't gonna let her wife know that.

"Hey, why don't we go get some food?"

The two sat in the car. El was driving while Max was silently panicking in the passenger seat. "Okay we ha- Max! What's wrong honey, you're shaking!" The ginger looked down at her hands to see them all pale. Tears filled her eyes as El watched her with a concerned and confused face.

"W-what if I'm like them." She broke down sobbing. El reached over and hugged her tightly, whispering soothing things into her ear while playing with her hair. After a while, Max began to calm down. El took her smaller hands in hers. "You will never be like them."

"But mom's all I know, she- I'm gonna be a horrible mother!"

"Hey, hey no you're not. Do you see how you are with Barb? Nancy and Johnathan always ask you babysit. She always comes to you first when we're all together, and Mike's her uncle! You're gonna be a great mom honey, you just need to stop thinking about them."

"But-"

"Max, do you really think I would've asked to adopt a child if I thought you were going to be a bad mother?"

"No..."

"Exactly. You're gonna be the best darn mother out there."

"I love you."

"And I love you."

"Let's go get our son."

Author's Note:

Sorry its so short and if its not what you wanted! I'm still in school so I just did this real quick!
